

Watch Celtic fans honoured in German church as local choir sings 'You'll Never Walk Alone' ahead of Euro clash

16:29, 1 NOV 2016 | BY ROSS MCCAFFERTY

FANS of both teams visited the MarienKirche in the German city, and were treated to a special treat after the end of the All Souls Day service.

f t g+ p 781 SHARES

Enter your e-mail for our daily newsletter

CELTIC fans have been made to feel right at home as they prepare for their crunch Champions League match against Borussia Moenchengladbach - as they were serenaded by a local choir earlier today.

Fans of both teams had taken to the Marienkirche, St Mary's Church, for a service held to honour All Saints' Day, which is a public holiday in Germany.

Celtic will be big Bhoys in three years as Brendan Rodgers sets long-term last-16 target

Recommended In Scottish News

BONFIRE NIGHT
Snow warning for Bonfire Night as Scots urged to huddle up to beat freezing temperatures

COATBRIDGE
'Goodbye our Hollywood star': Coatbridge prepares to say farewell to beloved Sean McKenna

COURTS
Scotland's most clueless casuals caught in act as pointless pitch invasion captured on camera

JUSTIN BIEBER
'Girls are desperate to kiss the counter Justin Bieber touched': Glasgow chippy flocked with teen fans after superstar's visit

Junter

PA reporter Ronnie Esplin captured the moment at the end of the service in the Catholic church, when the choir sang You Will Never Walk Alone.

Both fans joined in as the event became symbolic of the carnival atmosphere that has greeted fans of the Scottish Champions' who have travelled to Westphalia.

Live football on TV: What channel is showing Borussia Mönchengladbach v Celtic?

All thoughts of the battle for third place in Group C were put to one side as even Junter, Moenchengladbach's mascot, joined in the service.

Moenchengladbach fans

READ MORE

► Watch Borussia Mönchengladbach ultras and their best moments ahead of Champions League clash with Celtic

The club, who currently sit 11th in the Bundesliga, have made more fans since showing their willingness to engage in friendly banter with Celtic.

After a pub who were sick of trying to spell their name referred to them as "A German Team" the Moenchengladbach adopted it as an unofficial moniker.

They changed their Twitter name to "A German Team" and have sold thousands of scarves bearing that message ahead of tonight's do or die match.

Top news stories today

Tributes for firing range soldier

May forced to the polls over Brexit?

Dangerous squaddie jailed for 10 years

Sturgeon issues ScotRail ultimatum

Follow @Daily_Record
Follow @rossmccaff

0 Folgen

COURTS
Madman who drove down golf course fairway in police chase is jailed

BISHOPBRIGGS
Masked robbers armed with gun and knife threaten staff in Scotmid shop raid

RAITH ROVERS FC
Football farce as clueless casuals mount five-strong pitch invasion at youth game in front of just 35 fans

Promoted Stories

This game will keep you up all night!

Sparta Online Game

Grundfos Alpha2 25-60

158,10 € - preis.de

10 Best Free Wallpaper Apps For iOS & Android Phones

Appurise

Father And Son Take Same Photo For 25 Years! Don't Cry When You See The Last One!

mainsstream

Sponsored Links by Taboola

Most Read In News

1 UK & WORLD

Teenager 'pregnant with Jesus' gets a shock with ultrasound and finds out why she can 'feel kicking'